

HOSPITAL AGREEMENTS MUST BE ADVERTISED

BOARD WILL HOLD ANNUAL MEETING IN FEBRUARY OF EACH YEAR

The regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Wainwright municipal hospital was held on Friday last with all members present except Trustee Chesterman.

The minutes of the previous meeting having been read, these were adopted on a motion by Trustee Huntingford.

A letter was read from the Secretary of the Gilt Edge M.D. expressing the desire of a municipal ratepayers' meeting that the Hospital Board also hold an annual public meeting.

Moved by Trustee Perkins—That an annual meeting of the ratepayers of the Wainwright municipal hospital district, No. 17, be held on the first Saturday in February of each year in Wainwright.—Carried.

Information was read from the department that it is legally necessary that all indigent agreements be made in bylaw form, and that such bylaws must be advertised by the contributing municipalities for the consent of the ratepayers affected.

Moved by Trustee Santee—That the Secretary write each of the municipal districts affected, informing them of the necessity for the advertising and passing of the bylaw regarding an agreement for indigent patients according to the letter from the department.—Carried.

Tenders were opened for the supply of milk to the hospital, and it was Moved by Trustee Perkins—That the tender of A. G. Wheaton for the supply of milk and cream be accepted as specified in his tender of May 12th 1932, as long as quality of same is standard.—Carried.

A report from the fire insurance inspectors and the town fire chief, containing one or two small recommendations was placed before the Board.

Moved by Trustee Huntingford—That the report of the fire inspection presented by the town fire chief be accepted, and the recommendations contained therein be carried out.—Carried.

Bills and accounts amounting to $1038.01 were presented by the Secretary, and Moved by Trustee Perkins—That the accounts be accepted and cheques issued covering the several amounts.—Carried.

Moved by Trustee Jackson—That the chairman and secretary be authorized to borrow the sum of $1000.00 from the Bank of Montreal as required.—Carried.

A letter explaining the need felt for a local hospital convention to be held at Vermilion was concurred in a motion by Trustee Huntingford.

The superintendent presented her monthly report as follows:—

Females admitted	17
Females discharged	14
Males admitted	16
Males discharged	16
Still in hospital	21
Maternity cases	6
Infants born	4
Medical cases	20
Surgical cases	10
Major operations	2
Minor operations	2
fg's drh'g Og	3
Deaths	3

Moved by Trustee Huntingford—That the report as presented by the superintendent be accepted and filed.—Carried.

The Board then adjourned.

The contract for the reconstruction of Pier No. 2 and the Freight Shed at Port Arthur, Ont., has been awarded to W. C. Wells, of Wilkie, Sask. This work is to replace a shed which was destroyed by fire.

HOMESTEAD ENTRIES

IN APRIL TOTAL 263

EDMONTON—Homestead entries in Alberta for April numbered 263, of which 236 were first entries, 23 second homesteads, and 4 soldier grants. Included in the total were 72 entries by women.

The Edmonton land office again let with 163 entries. Peace River had 56 and Grande Prairie 45. The Calgary and Lethbridge offices drew blanks last month, neither reporting any entries.

ACCIDENT TO FORMER RESIDENT

Mr. Esau, the manager, and Mr. Gordon Kenny, the teller, of the Bank of Montreal, had the misfortune to collide with another car on the Calgary-Edmonton highway last Friday night while returning home from Red Deer. Mr. Kenny, who suffered severe cuts to the face and neck, was taken to the Red Deer hospital, but was able to return home on Saturday.

—Bentley news in Red Deer Advocate.

Mr. Kenny will be remembered as the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. S. Kenny, of Wainwright, who was formerly teller at the local branch of the bank, and sympathies are extended to him in his sufferings.

Almost an epidemic of severe colds in influenza form has stricken a large number of townsmen during the past two or three weeks but happily the nuisance is becoming abated.

FOREST DESTRUCTION IN ALBERTA SERIOUS

1931 WAS PROBABLY THE MOST DISASTROUS YEAR ON RECORD

Considered from the standpoint of destruction of forest resources, the fire season of 1931, reports the Alberta Department of Lands and Mines, was probably the most disastrous on record. Weather conditions prevailing during the winter of 1930-31 were such that fires started readily and burnt into the ground, thus providing a start for destructive fires in the spring. On the forests of the east slope of the Rocky Mountains it was necessary to fight fires on several occasions during the winter.

As a result of winter conditions and of the weather and ground conditions in the spring whereby fires spread rapidly, fires set for the purpose of clearing land and fires from other causes, assumed dangerous proportions and resulted in an enormous loss of forest resources and on private property. In addition the productivity of the soil was greatly damaged.

An examination of fire causes, state officials in charge of forest preservation, leaves no doubt as to the responsibility of individuals and indicates that little or no thought was given to the results. In many instances the danger to life and to the destruction of public and private property was entirely overlooked.

Improvements on neighboring lands were destroyed with no thought of the importance of individual welfare in the success of the community. In order to clear comparatively small areas, fires were indiscriminately set which destroyed large areas of important forest cover, which areas in a great many instances would at a later date contribute in no small way to the welfare of the individual and the community.

Settlers' fires dealt with by the forest reserve numbered 136, being 21.66 per cent. of the total fires dealt with.

The statement of the department concludes:

"Campers, which includes all forest travellers, contributed to the destruction in no small way. Careless, new, laziness and ignorance no doubt explains why 147 fires are known to have originated with campers. It is difficult to understand why people who go to the forest for recreation or who obtain their livelihood from the forest, should be guilty of such carelessness. In the province of Alberta are found conditions more favorable to outdoor recreation than in many countries. There is an abundance of game birds, fish and big game. These, however, cannot exist if forest destruction continues at the rate of 1931."

MANY PASTORS SEEK CHANGE THIS SUMMER

There is likely to be a considerable number of changes in the pastorates of United churches at the coming conference on May 25th. Medicine Hat, Lethbridge, Olds, Carstairs, Cayley, Edmonton (4 churches), Coronation, Strome and Okotoks being amongst the places where pastors are asking for a change. The average term of service in these cases is about four years. So far as we can learn, the only contemplated change in the Wainwright presbytery will be at Edgerton.

C.G.I.T. GIRLS' CLUB HOLD ENTERTAINMENT

NICE CROWD WITNESS PLEASANT EVENING BY LOCAL AGGREGATION

For the purpose of raising funds for their summer camp expenses the C.G.I.T. girls put on a splendid little entertainment in the L.O.O.F. hall on Friday, which in spite of the storm just at opening time was fairly well attended.

Under the guidance of the Misses H. and F. Tory, and assisted by a number of their boy friends the girls had arranged a very attractive stage setting, and the numbers given, both individual and choruses were certainly very appreciable. An added touch was given to the original sketch (written locally) by the fact that the costumes for this were all actual produce of Hawaii kindly loaned for the occasion.

At the close of the concert the artists were entertained to a social hour amid much merriment. The full programme was as follows:—

Opening chorus—Camp song scene.
Piano solo—Miss L. Kirkpatrick.
Comedy—"The Doctor"—Ken Tory.
Blanche Mosher, June Plaxton.
Vocal solo—Miss E. Steel.
Original reading—Miss F. Tory.
Fantasy—"The Dream Maker"—Misses L. Kirkpatrick & J. Thomas, and Bob Trewartha.
Hawaiian guitar duet—Misses V. and E. Hausfeld.
Reading—Phil Stuart.
Original Sketch—"A night in Hawaii"—Misses H. & F. Tory, and Vera & Edna Hausfeld.
Thanks are extended to all who assisted the girls in the success achieved.

THRILLING TIME IN FILMING OF "CORSAIR"

FIGHT WITH RUM RUNNERS AND STORM AT SEA IS EXPERIENCED

Two weeks at sea with a deck load of pineapples sounds safe enough in any weather. But—never again, says Chester Morris, star of the United Artists picture, "Corsair" which comes to the theatre Thurs. Fri. and Sat.

Not, at least, when the "pineapples" are of the Chicago variety—high explosive bombs.

A few fights with rum running boats, an unexpected storm and the difficulty of taking movies on the high seas and the reason for Chester Morris' "never again" becomes apparent.

This is an adaptation of the Walton Green novel "Corsair" of the same name—the tale of a football hero who turns pirate.

"Corsair" gives the real "low-down" on the rum fleets which ply between the Nova Scotia coast and the Bahamas. It is the truth of the situation revealed by an author who at one time headed the secret division of prohibition enforcement.

Two large yachts, the "Corsair" skippered by Chester Morris, and the "Quiescent" a rum carrier, formed the nucleus of Roland West's fleet for the ocean scenes. In addition there were several launches and motor boats carrying camera crews.

West's entire fleet was equipped with radio telephone apparatus, to maintain communication between boats and the film studios in Hollywood. It also served for communication purposes with the base of the filming expedition on Catalina Island and with coastal authorities in San Pedro harbor in the event of an emergency.

Complete talking-recording equipment was installed so the dialogue sequences were filmed actually at sea instead of having to be recorded on sham sets inside the studio sound stages after the return to Hollywood.

A touch of war times was added by the use of camouflage for Chester Morris' boat. The cargo of bombs added the danger of real adventure for the crew and actors, and was carried on deck to minimize danger.

Announcement is made of the appointment of George A. Shea as Director of Investigation, Canadian National Railways, succeeding H. J. Page, retired. Mr. Shea was Superintendent of Investigation at Montreal.

DEGREES TO LOCAL RESIDENTS AT CONVOCATION

On Friday last in Edmonton several pupils well-known to our readers were recipients of degrees and honors at the annual convocation of Alberta university.

Mr. Fred Coleman, whom many will remember as formerly assistant to Dr. Coulter here, received his degree of doctor of dental surgery (D.D.S.) in addition to the gold medal presented by the Alberta dental association for highest standing in final year. Mr. David Samuel Kyle, principal of Wainwright high school, returned with a brand new sheepskin as a bachelor of arts (B.A.) as did also Miss Beulah Welch. Miss Grace Welch, B.A., was awarded the diploma of high school teacher, and Miss Margaret Livingstone, who formerly taught here, was awarded her B.A. degree. Heartly congratulations to all these fortunate ones!

GOOD ROADS PART OF OUR BUSINESS

Just a hint to our M.D. and Town Councils

Good roads are becoming the first necessity for a community. Cities approachable by good highways get the business. Good roads lead to prosperity.

Good roads bring the people of the country closer to the city and the city closer to the people of the country. They will make the farmer's marketing better and will open new fields for progressive business men. Today the motor car and the motor truck have become an essential part of the business of the city business firms and the business farmers.

Good roads blaze the way for better business and are a sure trail to success.

Good roads are an asset for the jobber, manufacturer and retailer, they expand trade territory.

Good roads should be built for business as well as for pleasure.

Communities will determine by their actions whether they will be live ones or dead ones; they are always judged by their accomplishments. Good roads show progressiveness. They promote social and industrial progress.

With good roads, when you start somewhere you get somewhere.

CLEAN UP

The Editor
Dear Sir—How often have you passed through a town and the only impression you retained was a picture of weeds growing along the sidewalks, tin cans, old cars, ash heaps, broken wagons and other machinery dotting the landscape?

A few minutes' work on the part of the citizens of Wainwright will help to keep visitors to our town from going away with that impression.

Here are a few suggestions:
First of all, clean up your own yard, then do the alley behind your lot before your enthusiasm dies, and last of all clean the boulevard in front.

Secondly, if there is a vacant lot near, organize the citizens near this lot to clean up that lot instead of making it a community nuisance grounds. Pile your rubbish where it is convenient for the town sanitary department to pick it up.

Thirdly—and this is to garage men and livery stable owners—clean up those old cars from which the useful parts have been taken and those old broken wagons and piles of scrap iron. If you think there is still some value in these arrange them neatly in a row up against a fence away from the main streets.

Now, don't stop with the spring clean up. Keep the grass and weeds down on your own lot first of all and then look for newer worlds to conquer on the vacant lot near you and on the boulevards. Burn your old papers. They make poor fence decorations.

Then with the co-operation of the town in mowing the boulevards etc., Wainwright will go away with that impression and you will come back congratulating yourself on the appearance of the town.

Yours for a cleaner town.

GRADS ARE STILL UNCONQUERED CHAMPS

INTERNATIONAL TROPHY GIVES HARD-FOUGHT BATTLE IN EDMONTON

Thousands of basket ball fans (among whom were a number from this district) saw the most spectacular games in this sport ever witnessed on Saturday and Monday last, when the Commercial Grade of Edmonton and the May & Malone Red Devils of Chicago battled for the International championship.

The games were both marvels of basket ball science, and with two such teams on the floor anything was expected as the result of the encounter—in fact at times in both games, the Grads were on the short end of the score!

However, the final reading of the totalizer was as follows—
Saturday's game—

	Grads	Chlo.
1st. period	9	2
2nd. period	14	6
3rd. period	24	16
4th. period	44	34

Monday's game—

	Grads	Chlo.
1st. period	9	8
2nd. period	16	14
3rd. period	29	18
4th. period	49	25

From this it will be seen that the World's Champions had to go all the way to hold their opponents in check and from all reports the play was a truly marvellous exhibition of ladies' basketball, for although the Grads went into the second game with a lead of ten points there was a couple of times when their score was below their opponents. However, the final totals of 93-59 on the full count of the two games ably proves their superiority in this sport—a title they have held for very many years.

MOTOR TIRES NOW HAVE CORD BASIS

DO YOU KNOW THE NUMBER OF CORDS IN A TIRE

Most motorists will recall the days when there was a choice between "fabric" and "cord" tires. For many years automobile tires were built up on a basis of woven fabric. Then "cord" tires were introduced. The cords lie side by side, imbedded in rubber, being merely held together by slender cross threads which keep them in place until they are surrounded and bound together by the rubber. This was a big forward step in tire construction.

Practically all automobile tires are now made in this way. Layers of rubber-saturated cords crossing each other at an angle form the "carcass," upon which the walls and tread of rubbers are imposed and give the tire its strength springiness—much greater because the cotton is not a tightly woven fabric, but a series of parallel cords encased in rubber.

Some tire manufacturers claim strength and toughness for the cords used in their tires. The Goodyear Company, for instance, which makes its own cords has an interesting little machine which demonstrates the elasticity and toughness of these cords, and which it supplies to all its dealers. This machine shows how far the cord will stretch before breaking and without losing its "life" and resiliency.

The Goodyear Company has taken an unusual step to draw attention to the importance of the cords in its tires. It is offering substantial cash prizes for the nearest correct estimates of the number of cords in the average Goodyear tire. Any one may enter this contest by securing an entry form from a Goodyear dealer and viewing the six types of tires upon which the estimate is to be based. It is the average number of cords in these six tires that must be calculated. Much interest is being displayed all over Canada in this contest which closes on June 5th.

Harvey Boale, who for the past two years has been Agent for the Canadian National Express in Victoria, has been transferred to Vancouver as General Agent. Mr. Boale went to the Pacific coast from Moose Jaw and has been with the company for twenty years.

POULTRY WINS A PLACE IN FARM MANAGEMENT

"Poultry is at last definitely recognized as one of the essential departments of every up-to-date farm where a program of mixed farming is carried on," states George Robertson, Assistant Dominion Poultry Husbandman. Not only is it recognized as a necessary department of farm work but more and more farmers are coming to realize that for the capital invested and labour involved there are few, if any, departments that give as high returns.

For the mixed farm, general purpose breeds such as the Plymouth Rocks, which are good both for laying and for the production of market poultry are recommended. A flock of a hundred such birds carefully managed are returning to many a farmer a profit over cost of feed of from $200 to $500 a year, which is something not to be despised by even the most successful farmers.

CAN. NATIONAL RLWS. WEEKLY NEWS ITEMS

Totem Pole golf week at Jasper Park Lodge has been set for September 3 to 10 inclusive. The feature of golf week is the competition for the silver Totem Pole trophy, one of the most beautiful golf trophies now competed for on the continent. Golf week is open for amateurs only and brings together players from all parts of the United States and Canada.

The longest week-end holiday of the year, Victoria Day, May 24th, falls this year on a Tuesday and furnishes the opportunity for the railways of Canada to render an outstanding service. Between points in Canada and some specified places in the United States, return fares for the holiday will be at the rate of one and one-quarter times the one-way first class fare. Similar concessions will also be given by the railways for the holidays on King's Birthday, June 3, and Dominion Day, July 1. Reduced fare tickets for the Victoria Day holiday will be on sale from noon Friday, May 20, until noon, Tuesday, May 24th. The return limit of these fares will be midnight Wednesday, May 25.

The Saskatchewan Government, it is reported to the Natural Resources Department of the Canadian National Railways, will conduct a survey of the proposed Souris River development, near Estevan. The scheme, which involves the construction of a large artificial lake in Southern Saskatchewan, is also of vital interest to dwellers along the Souris river in North Dakota, U.S.A., from the point of view of flood control and the federal government of the United States. It is stated has appropriated $15,000 to finance a survey south of the International boundary. The Souris River project as outlined would necessitate the building of a large earthen dam, approximately 1960 feet long by 40 feet high, which is expected to create an artificial lake nearly 35 miles long and or half mile wide. Some 2,200 acres land would be flooded, and approximately 44,000,000,000 gallons of water impounded. The large reservoir of water created by the proposed lake, it is thought, would not only fit in with the plans of the provincial drouth commission, but do much to encourage industrial activity in the locality.

For the first time in history, it is believed, Bermuda has shipped to Canada spinach in commercial quantities. A portion of the large consignment of this highly healthful Empire-grown green, which arrived recently on the C.N.S. Lady Somers, is being distributed to Western Canadian points. Other shipments of spinach are expected to follow, until the Canadian-grown product appears later in the season.

Many references at gatherings in Canada and the United States are made to the "4,000 miles of unfenced boundary" between the two countries. As a matter of fact the boundary is 5,500 miles in length, of which 3,100 miles are land boundary and 2,400 miles are water boundary. The land boundary is marked by 5,483 monuments and a vista cut through the woods in all forested areas; the water boundary is identified by 2,530 reference marks.

COMMEMORATING BIRTH FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE

The month of May is one of outstanding interest in relation to commemorative dates of importance in their bearing upon human and social interests. The month begins with the celebration of Arbor Day, May 2nd; the birthday of Henri Dunant, founder of the Red Cross on May 8th; Mother's Day, the second Sunday of May; Victoria Day, May 24th, and British Empire Red Cross Day, commemorated in honour of Florence Nightingale on May 12th. This date is of peculiar significance to those engaged in Red Cross work throughout the Empire.

We are today commemorating throughout the British Empire the birthday of a great English woman. On the 12th of May, 1820 in the city of Florence, Italy, was born Florence Nightingale, whose work and influence was destined to bring about a miracle of change in those fields of service which we may characterize as the "humanities", a change not limited to its character, as is sometimes supposed, to the field of health or to the nursing profession—nor even confined within the boundaries of the Empire—but so vital and far-reaching an influence that we may say with truth that the life and work of Miss Nightingale was of world-wide significance in its contribution to the well being and service of humanity.

It was fitting therefore as an outcome of the first British Empire Red Cross Conference which gathered in London on the 18th of May 1930, that the birthday of this great English woman should have been chosen as British Empire Red Cross Day, the 12th day of May, to be commemorated hereafter in honour of Florence Nightingale and the Red Cross organizations of the Empire. No more fitting commemoration could be chosen for one, whose personality and work was the inspiration which influenced the Swiss student Henri Dunant, during the years 1859-1864 in the efforts which he made to bring about the first Geneva Convention which resulted in the organization of army, medical and nursing services and the formation of the great voluntary Red Cross Societies of the world. Dunant, the Swiss, acknowledged his indebtedness to Miss Nightingale, and from correspondence which has survived it is evident that both these world figures in the service of humanity visualized even at that time an extension of Red Cross services beyond the realm of war into those activities which have taken their place in the peace time program of the Red Cross today.

Today, the Junior Red Cross, embracing in its membership twelve million children, pledged to Red Cross principles of health, service and citizenship, organized in the schools of 32 countries, is demonstrating the vision held by this great English woman, while National Red Cross Societies are co-operating with government and health agencies of the world for the promotion of health and public welfare.

NEW PLYMOUTH CARS IN DEMONSTRATION

This week sees a carload of Plymouth cars here for the Dupre garage and in this connection a demonstration of the new floating-power peculiar to these cars is to be held for all and sundry. A special invitation is extended to all to take a free ride in one of the new cars at any time, irrespective of whether you own a Ford or Buick (or no car at all) and realise the added advantage of this new car feature.

GIRL PASSES AWAY AFTER SAD ACCIDENT

The death took place at the local hospital on Wednesday last of Luella Pearl Taron, who resided with her parents some eight miles north of Irma. The deceased who had been working for Mrs. Jas. Kennedy, was thrown from a horse which stumbled in a hole, and sustained a fracture of the skull. Dr. Greenberg of Irma brought the patient to the hospital but she never regained consciousness and passed away as stated. The funeral took place on Friday at the Irma United church, the arrangements being in the hand of McLeod's parlors. Interment was at Irma cemetery.

LUXOR CAKE
with Magic Baking Powder

"My advice to all housewives, both skilled and inexperienced, is: Use Magic Baking Powder. Then there is no uncertainty about your baking," says Miss Ethel Chapman, Editor of the Home Section in the Ontario Farmer.

This unqualified statement is particularly impressive because thrifty Canadian home makers have learned that Miss Chapman's advice is invariably practical.

Other well-known food experts and cookery teachers in the Dominion share Miss Chapman's high opinion of Magic. In fact, the majority of them—and housewives, too—use Magic exclusively. No wonder Magic outells all other baking powders combined!

Miss Chapman's recipe for
"LUXOR CAKE"

1 cup fine granulated sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1/2 cup egg yolks
1/2 cup lukewarm water
1/2 teaspoon Magic Soda
1/2 cup pastry flour (or 3 tablespoons fine of bread flour)
2 teaspoons Magic Baking Powder
1/4 teaspoon salt

Sift sugar. Measure out 3 tablespoons, pour on vanilla extract and set aside. Add water and soda to egg yolks; beat with egg beater until foamy. Add sugar a little at a time, beating in well. Add flavored sugar and beat. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Fold carefully into mixture; pour in ungreased angel cake pan. Bake in moderate oven at 350° F. for 40 to 45 minutes. Invert pan and let stand until cake is cold, when, with the aid of a spatula, it will slip from pan. Remove all crumbs and moist crust from surface and cut in three layers. Spread Lemon Cream Filling between layers. Ice top and sides with Marshmallow Seven Minute Frosting. (Recipe for filling and frosting see in the Magic Cook Book—see five other below.)

A COLLEGE STEAL

When the van stopped, Dusky was yanked out by the legs and carried across another sidewalk. At last, the bag was removed from his head.

To his surprise, in fact, to his utter dumfounding, he found himself in a large dining hall. Four long tables ran from one end of the hall to the other, and there were about one hundred boys seated at each table.

His arrival was greeted by vociferous cheers.

"Hurrah! We got another! That makes nine! Nine soph!"

One voice louder than the rest asked: "Who is that boloney, Eddie?" "I don't know," answered the man standing beside Dusky—one of Dusky's captors. "We thought we were getting Jimmy Harpelle, but we got this duck by mistake. Too bad we didn't nail Jimmy, but anyhow, a soph is a soph."

"Well, what are we waiting for? Get 'em ready!" demanded some one else.

Dusky marched off into a side room where eight other fellows, all wearing sailor hats like himself were waiting. Each of these men was in charge of two other men who wore the dinky little freshmen hats.

"Make it snappy, soph!" commanded one of these freshmen. "Get down to your undies and hustle!"

The sophs began to undress, and Dusky, having no other choice, followed their example. When the men were down to their underwear, night-shirts were handed to them. Dusky and his eight fellow sufferers were marched back into the dining room again.

They were greeted by roars of laughter and many pleasant quips—and by a barrage of tomatoes! This seemed sort of silly to Dusky, especially after he had stopped several of these missiles with his face, but there was nothing he could do about it. To his further astonishment, the eight others seemed to be taking everything for granted. Nothing appeared to surprise them; they took everything stoically and in silence.

"Make 'em sing!" shouted somebody.

"The 'Stein Song'!" cried several voices in unison.

One freshman added the instruction: "And when you get to the last line, sing it: 'Us soph'mores are a bunch of mugs!'"

So Dusky and the other eight were placed in a straight line and told to start. This didn't seem quite so bad to Dusky, so he joined in the chorus the words of which he happened to know.

"Bravo!" went up the bellow when the song had ended. "And now give 'em their reward!"

The reward was a second barrage—this time of eggs. This got Dusky peeved. He lost his temper. He took a poke at one of the freshmen seated near him and then made a break for the room in which he had taken off his clothing.

Five or six men pulled him back. He now noticed for the first time that every man had a paddle on the tathre next to his plate.

"Give him the works!" yelled somebody.

All of the jolly diners rose and formed into one line, each man spreading his legs.

"Crawl through!" Dusky was ordered.

"How do you guys gets that way?" he began.

"Give him the noodle soup if he argues!" cried somebody else.

A man advanced on Dusky with a bowl of soup.

Dusky gritted his teeth, got down on his knees and started to crawl through the legs.

"Thump, thump, thwack!"

He had made about one third of the line, and he was tingling all over when it happened.

There was a crash—and then there was a riot.

Hundreds of men, all wearing soph'more hats, streamed into the dining hall. In about three seconds, the place was literally upside down. Everybody seemed bent on throwing something or somebody out of the hall.

Dusky fought savagely to reach the room in which his clothes were. But he never made it. Somebody pulled him back and knocked him down and then sat on him. Then somehow, he found himself in the center of a milling mob being shoved, hauled, pushed or pulled.

A door caved in and Dusky and about ten others crashed through it—and out upon the sidewalk. There was more shouting, more milling and more mauling. Everybody ran in a different direction. Dusky ran, too, into the arms of an officer!

The officer grabbed him by the neck and seat of the nightshirt, tossed him into a patrol wagon, and slammed the door. In less than five minutes, Dusky had seven companions. Ten minutes later, he was lined up with the others in front of a lieutenant's desk in a station house.

The befuddled and confused Dusky had just enough presence of mind left to give the wrong name. He had himself booked as Adam Whitlock. He was put into a cell with three of the others. The charge was disorderly conduct.

After about an hour had passed, a guard opened the cell and handed Dusky an overcoat and a pair of trousers. They were both gray, and Dusky protested that they did not belong to him. The guard said: "I should worry," and walked off.

Dusky's night in the prison cell was something less than pleasant. He had two black eyes, a split lip, two scraped shins, a twisted neck and sun dry other bruises, and it was not comfortable for him to sit down either. His cell mates who had somehow come out of the fracas with all of their clothes—torn clothes, but they still had them all—treated him like a leper and poked fun at him all night, making disparaging remarks about sophs in general and Dusky in particular.

Next morning, he was weary, battered, hollow-eyed and bewildered. Dusky was led into a courtroom and again placed in line with the other collegiate prisoners.

The magistrate summoned a police man to the stand, but a small, black-haired, alert-eyed man interrupted the proceedings with:

"Your honor, I have been engaged by the undergraduate dean of Riverside University to act as counsel for all of these defendants. My clients plead guilty. I have no excuse to offer for them, but in sentencing these boys, I beg your honor to hark back a moment to your own college days. I'll say further that the sophomore and freshmen classes have pledged themselves to pay for all of the damage done at the restaurant; and the restaurant owner has assured me that this is satisfactory to him and he does not wish to press the complaint. No one was hurt, your honor, except the participants of the fight. We throw ourselves upon the mercy of the court."

His Honor frowned, thumbed a page, coughed and said: "I'll take you as a group. Sentence suspended. And see that from now on you behave yourselves!"

A thrill went through Dusky. This wasn't going to be so bad, after all.

But the college lawyer spoke up again: "Your Honor, I must call to your attention the fact that one of these men is not a student of Riverside. We have carefully examined the register and have no Adam Whitlock as a member of any of the undergraduate classes. How this Whitlock got here we can't guess. Last night after the fight was over, one of the sophomores reported a rather singular bit of news to our dean. This sophmore claims that he escaped from the restaurant with the wrong suit of clothes. In the several pockets of this suit of clothes which the sophmore grabbed by mistake, there were many articles of jewelry, about three hundred dollars in cash, and a package of letters addressed to James Harpelle, the sophomore class president."

"Harpelle claims the letters were stolen from his room, and most of the jewelry has been identified by other students of the Pendley Hall dormitory. This Whitlock is a thief he's more than probably the thief who has been making the raids on Pendley Hall during the past few months."

The magistrate frowned down upon Dusky. "What have you to say to that?"

Dusky didn't know what to say. He knew that the suit of clothes the sophmore had grabbed by mistake would fit him and he knew they would find his finger prints if they looked up his record. The lawyer came to the fore again.

"Your Honor, all of the elevator men of Pendley and Mortimer Halls are in this courtroom and they have had a good look at this chap who calls himself Whitlock and they will know him from now on. If he appears on the campus again he will be thrown out. We think that taking everything into consideration, this Whitlock has had enough rough handling to pay for his crimes and so—"

"Guilty of raising a public disturbance and appearing in the streets in a nightshirt!" cut in the magistrate. "Ninety days in the workhouse! And you're a mighty lucky boy at that, Mr. Whitlock!"

Twenty-two days later, Dusky, still perplexed, told his story to a group of other inmates in the workhouse yard.

"Haw-haw!" laughed one of them. He was Dick Frazier and he had been thrown out of a college himself—for cheating. "Can't you see, Dusky? They mistook you for James Harpelle the sophomore class president, in that semi-dark hall. They did not discover their mistake until they had you in the restaurant. Even so, you was wearing a sophomore hat, so they thought you was a sophmore, and sophs was what they wanted. They got so many students up there no one knows them all."

"But why did they want sophmores?" asked Dusky.

"One of the quaint college customs explained Frazier. 'The freshmen were holding their class dinner and when freshmen have a dinner, they kidnap as many sophs as possible—and have a little fun with them.'"

"But what was the idea of the

Odd—but TRUE

tomatoes and the egg they threw at us?"

"No idea—just some fun. And then the sophs found out where the dinner was being held and went up there to break it up. That's another college custom."

"Well," said Dusky, "I still claim my rah-rah racket was a good one. It was only by mistake I got caught. Sure, it's a good racket," agreed Frazier. "The only trouble was you picked out the wrong college. Don't you know that Riverside has a terrible reputation?" He winked at the other listeners. "Only rough-necks go there. You should 'a' picked out some college where the students are peaceful and gentle."

"For instance?"

Frazier winked again. "Tassar," he answered. And softly, to a near-by companion he whispered that it was a girl's college. "Now there's a place Dusky. All the students at Tassar was brought up proper and they got kind hearts and very refined manners and they would never think of throwing tomatoes or running around in the streets in their nightshirts. No air, you would never get into no fighting at Tassar, and all you would have to do is never get rough yourself and you could pass for one of the students easy without never being found out."

Dusky remained silent a moment. Then he asked: "Where is this here now Tassar?"

THE GUTTA PERCHA TIRE
In addition to Gum Cushions the Gutta Percha Tire shown above has the Resisto Tread, rubber impregnated cord fabric, reinforced side walls, extra tread width—all extra values at no extra cost.

THIS is a cut-away of a Gutta Percha Tire showing the Gum Cushions. These broad pads of pure gum rubber are built in between the plies of cord fabric to absorb the battering shocks of the road, to absorb the flexing strains in the sidewall, to reinforce the heads. Smashing impacts which break down the cord fabric of ordinary tires—friction and chafing between the cords which cause ordinary tires to fail—are neutralized by Gum Cushions, originated by Gutta Percha out of 49 years of experience in the rubber industry in Canada.

Only Gutta Percha Tires are Gum Cushioned. Yet they cost no more than ordinary tires—you get this amazing extra value at no extra cost.

An Interesting Accessory for You—FREE

Your Gutta Percha Dealer will give you FREE a handsome, polished metal service record to remind you when to change oil, when to lubricate the chassis, when to check tires, battery, etc. Conveniently small—can be fastened in your car in a jiffy—Ask him for it.

The Man who needs Life Insurance most is the man who cannot get it!

Ask any of the 400,000 men who last year were "turned down" by the life insurance companies when they wanted insurance.

An accident, or a few days of illness often convert a good risk into a rejected applicant.

The policy you can buy to-day may not be obtainable next year.

Wise men are buying all the life insurance they can while they are still insurable.

Three billions of insurance is carried by the Sun Life on the lives of men who refuse to take the chance of finding they are ineligible for insurance.... when they need it most.

The time to insure is NOW

Are You Among Those Who Say ---I never read the Newspaper Advertisements

TO SAY "I NEVER READ ADVERTISEMENTS" WOULD BE MUCH LIKE SAYING, "I NEVER USE SOAP," OR "I NEVER READ NEWSPAPERS," OR "NO ONE CAN TEACH ME ANYTHING," OR "I KNOW EVERYTHING."

MANY GOOD—BUT NOT VERY WISE—PERSONS SEEM TO THINK THAT ALL ADVERTISEMENTS ARE JUST THE VAIN-GLORIOUS BRAGGINGS OF THOSE WHO PUBLISH THEM—DESIGNED TO PART FOOLS AND THEIR MONEY. THE TRUTH IS THAT MOST ADVERTISEMENTS ARE INCITEMENTS TO THEIR READERS TO DO OR BE OR BUY OR USE SOMETHING FOR THEIR IMMEDIATE OR PROSPECTIVE ADVANTAGE. ADVERTISERS, TO BE SUCCESSFUL AND TO LIVE LONG, HAVE TO OFFER SOMETHING OF VALUE OR OF DESIRE—SOMETHING REALLY WANTED OR NEEDED BY THE PUBLIC. ADVERTISERS TO LIVE LONG, MUST NOT CHEAT THE EXPECTATIONS OR CONFIDENCE OF THOSE WHO BUY WHAT THEY OFFER OR PROPOSE.

HERE ARE SOME QUESTIONS TO BE ANSWERED BY THOSE WHO SAY "I NEVER READ ADVERTISEMENTS"—

1. WHAT ALARM CLOCK WOULD YOU BUY, IF YOU NEEDED ONE?
2. WHAT CAMERA WOULD YOU BUY, FOR YOUR OWN USE, OR TO GIVE TO A SON OR DAUGHTER?
3. WHAT MOTOR CAR POSSESSES YOUR FAVOR?
4. WHAT FACE CREAM OR SHAVING SOAP OR CREAM, OR TOOTH PASTE, DID YOU USE TODAY?
5. WHAT LAUNDRY SOAP (OR FLAKES) IS IN YOUR KITCHEN RIGHT NOW?
6. DOES THE BREAKFAST BACON WHICH YOU LIKE BEST HAVE A BRAND NAME?
7. THE WATCH ON YOUR WRIST—WHAT NAME DOES IT BEAR?
8. YOUR SHOES—WHO MADE THEM?
9. YOUR LIFE INSURANCE POLICY—WHAT COMPANY ISSUED IT?
10. THE GINGER ALE WHICH YOU SERVE TO GUESTS—WHAT BRAND IS IT?
11. THE TEA WHICH YOU BUY REGULARLY—WHAT BRAND IS IT?
12. THE SOAP AND BAKED BEANS AND THE TOMATO CATSUP NOW ON YOUR PANTRY SHELVES—WHAT BRANDS ARE THEY?

YOU SEE, WHETHER OR NOT YOU CONSCIOUSLY OR HABITUALLY READ ADVERTISEMENTS, YOU BUY, BY PREFERENCE, WHAT ADVERTISEMENTS HAVE RECOMMENDED TO YOUR CONFIDENCE AND WHAT EXPERIENCE HAS PROVEN TO BE SATISFACTORY.

THE THINGS WHICH WE DON'T BUY, AND WHICH HAVE A SICKISH LIFE, ARE THOSE WHICH ARE NOT ADVERTISED, AND WHICH TRY TO RIDE INTO PUBLIC FAVOR ON THE BACKS OF WELL-ADVERTISED PRODUCTS.

"IT IS TO ONE'S DISCREDIT TO SAY, 'I NEVER READ ADVERTISEMENTS.'"

FIGHTING
FOREST FIRESA glowing match or a cigarette flipped from the fingers of a thoughtless motorist may start a million dollar forest fire. Worst of all, it may burn your home or mine—and sometimes the home of the thoughtless motorist as well.Hundreds of men devote their entire time preventing forest fires or attempting to put out those that start.
Thousands of volunteer fire fighters are called upon each year to assist these valiant men in their yearly fire loss is appalling.If each male citizen could be trained to fight forest fires, the loss would be much less—for one trained fire fighter is often able to put out a small fire that would quickly get beyond the control of half or a dozen inefficient men.The training of a nation looks like an impossible task, but hundreds of thousands of boy scouts have been trained along these lines and these boys are yearly saving unestimated millions of dollars' worth of property.Soon these boys will be men. Some of them are already. Before long our adult male population will consist largely of grown-up boy scouts—who will surely make better volunteer fire fighters than the untrained adults of today.This scout organization is doing much more than most of us realize tohelp save our timber, our grain fields and our homes. The locality that can boast of a well-trained troop or two is indeed fortunate."THE ROAD TO LITTLENES"Occasionally a merchant decides that he ought to "save" a part of his advertising expense, so he drops his advertising for a time, or reduces his accustomed space.If he were advised that he could also save money by closing his store doors for a few days or weeks, or through discharging his clerical force or by moving into quarters half as large, he would scoff at such advice. Yet such a course would be exactly opposite, as a business policy, with that of dropping out of the procession as an advertiser. The merchant who has the courage to increase his advertising when "the pinch" of poor business comes is the merchant who deserves to win—and who does win! He avoids "the road to littleness."SUGGESTS UPPER HOUSE
BE DIVORCED FROM POLITICSOTTAWA—Reform of the senate along drastic lines was suggested in the Upper House by Senator J. J.
Hughes (Lab.), King's. Upon appointment, Senators, under his plan, would sever their professional and business connections and divorce themselves from politics.All parliamentary inquiries and royal commission investigations would be conducted by the senate and its whole complexion would be changed to a semi-judicial body.MOTHER(Quotations of some Great Men).

—John Quincy Adams."What is wanting," said Napoleon one day to Madame Campan, "in order that the youth of France be well educated." "Good Mothers," was the reply. The Emperor was most forcibly struck by this answer.
"Here," said he, "is a system in one word."—J. S. C. Abbott.GAS COMPANY TO

wells in the Viking and Kinella fields, duplicating of pipe lines, extensions of services and exploratory work, involving an expenditure of nearly $200,000, were announced Wednesday by Julian Gaget, manager of Northwestern Utilities, Ltd.

THE EXAMINER'S
WEEKLY REVIEW OF
PROV. MARKETS

CATTLE

BEER—Demand on the Edmonton market has been fair, with buyers grading closely and prices slightly easier. Choice heavy steers brought $4.50 at 4.75; medium $4 at 4.25; good kinds $4.25 at 4.50. Choice cows brought $3.25 at 3.50; good $3 at 3.25; common $2.50 at 2.75; medium $2.50 at 2.75; canners and cutters at $1 at 1.75. Choice bulls made $1.50 at 1.75; medium at $1.25 at 1.50 and canners from $1 up. Choice light calves $4.50 at $5 and common $3 at 3.50. FEEDERS-STOCKERS—There is a moderately active demand in this section of the market. Feeder steers bringing $3.25 at $3.75; stock steers $3 at 3.50; stock heifers from $3 at 3.50 and stock cows $2.25 at 2.75.

HOGS

Edmonton quotation on bacon hogs fed and watered was established at $3.25, with select making $3.75 and the butchers $2.75.

SHEEP

Edmonton values unchanged, with yearlings at $3.50 at $4; ewes $2.50 at $3.50 and lambs $4.50 at 5.75.

GRAIN

Fractional losses and gains shown on Winnipeg market with prices a shade higher at Tuesday's close than at Thursday morning's opening. Reports of Russian purchases from Vancouver and the fact that all the No. 3 and lower grades of wheat have been cleaned out of that terminal, have helped the market. U.S. government crop report also aided prices.

CREAM—BUTTER—MILK

CREAM—Prices steady, with special 12 at 13c; first 10 at 11c, and second 7 at 8c. Receipts have been light or recently owing to work on land being resumed. Low quotations also affecting deliveries. CREAMERY BUTTER—Prices dropped 1c on Monday, making No. 1 cartons, 20c; No. 2, 18c; No. 1 prints, 19c; No. 2, 17c, and No. 3, 15c. Good demand in province, particularly for the lower grades. Outside market weak and buyers hammering prices. DAIRY BUTTER—Good demand for fancy table, but other offerings hard to move. Supply more liberal since cream values declined. Fancy table, 12c; No. 1, 6c; No. 2, 3c. MILK—Receipts lighter owing to spring work, but surplus still noticeable after requirements billed. Price steady at $1.50 per 100 lbs., basis 3.6.

POULTRY—EGGS

POULTRY—Supplies light, as only odd crates are arriving. Fowl in good condition, but roosters only fair. Demand light, but market able to keep cleaned up. Outlook for broilers not good. Prices steady: Fowl, No. 1, over 4 lbs., 7c; No. 1, under 4 lbs., 5c; No. 2, 4c; roosters, 4 at 5c. EGGS—Receipts light, as farmers are busy. Large number of seconds arriving. Consumption heavy, but sales through market channels light. Hatching and irregular delivery causing low grade. Prices steady: Extras 8c; firsts, 6 at 7c; seconds, 4c.

HAY—OATS—GREENFEED

HAY—Movement from country points light, but good trade existing on city markets. Deliveries have eased off owing to resumption of work on land. Prices steady; Upland, $8 at $9; timothy, $10, on track at country points. FEED OATS—Slight improvement noted in demand this week and price steady at 25c per bushel, delivered. GREENFEED—Supply close to market centres practically cleaned up. Good demand. Price steady at $8 at $9 per ton delivered.

THE HOME GARDEN

CANADIAN GARDEN SERVICE FOR 1932

LATER VEGETABLE PLANTINGS

In most parts of Canada it will now be time to consider planting and setting out the more tender sorts of vegetables those which are unable to stand more than a very light frost and are far better off without any at all. Indeed there is no hurry about these things, which include beans, tomato plants, squash, cucumbers, and melons as they will not start to grow until the weather and soil really becomes warm. In order to get a long and steady supply of green beans made at least three plantings at intervals of ten days and use several varieties. To do the same thing with tomatoes one may use a few well started plants for the first crop and hurry these along with fertilizer and possibly mulch paper. All garden tomatoes should be staked, using either wooden or steel stakes about six feet high. Trim off all side shoots as they develop, training the main stem up along the stake and tying loosely about every foot. All these warm weather vegetables prefer rich open soil and any members of the melon family, that is squash, cucumber, citron, etc., take special delight in hot sandy soil though it must be made rich with well rotted manure or good garden fertilizer. Along with the vegetables mentioned one may set out egg plants, well started peppers, and the first planting of celery. The latter must have very rich soil and water during dry weather. Plant fairly close together so that it may be bleached by placing ten or twelve inch boards along the rows for ten days or two weeks in the fall.

Tender Flowers

Among the more tender flowers will be Gladiolus, Dahlia and Cannas. The tubers or corms of which are planted. These should go in, in about the order named, the Cannas particularly being rather tender and unable to stand any frost. Plant them all to a depth of about three times the diameter of the tuber or bulb in ordinary soil and slightly shallower in clay. Gladiolus and Cannas prefer fairly rich open soil and make a good showing when grown in clumps, the former planted four to six inches apart and the Cannas a foot. Dahlias will thrive in almost any soil, giving good results in ash dumps mixed with a little clay. They should be staked, and have at least two and a half feet between plants. Dahlias are splendid things for producing a tall screen quickly, the writer running across an excellent example of this last summer where Mr. Martin Hewitt of Fenelon Falls, Ontario, had planted a row of these flowers for years in front of his long, north facing verandah with Scarlet Runner beans behind and above them.

Safe Mushrooms

Mushrooms grow wild in many parts of Canada, but they are dangerous if picked indiscriminately. One is well advised to secure a good bulletin on the subject before trusting anything gathered at random. They can, however, be easily and safely produced from spawn, and huge crops in comparison to the uncertain supply available under natural conditions, are secured. Moreover they will grow practically all the year round in some dark cellar, free from frost, or they can also be grown outside in boxes or special beds during the summer and early fall. When ordering spawn from your seed merchant, ask for the special cultural directions. This delicacy, never cheap, is quite easily produced. Beds are made with fresh stable manure which, after heating, are covered with the mushroom spawn broken in pieces about three inches square. When the spawn starts to run through the manure below, a layer of soil is added and on top of this the bed is covered with about eight or ten inches of straw or litter which should be sprinkled with water during hot weather. It is important to have manure and soil tramped down firmly, and to not allow the litter on top to settle or mat. Some people get fair results from putting the spawn among potatoes, but much larger crops will be produced when more care is taken. A bed will produce mushrooms for about two months.

These Flowers Ask Little Care

To those who want flowers but have not a great deal of time to spend on them, the Zinnia is recommended. It comes in three types, dwarf, medium and giant size. It will thrive on the most ordinary attention, and will do particularly well in the new garden, and for filling in the perennial bed before the regular flowers have fully developed. Colors range all the way from cream mauve and pink to deep yellow, dark brown, bronze and scarlet. It will bloom continuously from early summer until the time of killing frosts. For very early bloom, either start seed indoors or buy plants. It will, however, come along nicely from seed planted outdoors after danger of frost is about over. Other flowers which are also included in the group requiring a minimum of experience or care are calliopsis, marigolds, annual larkspur, scabiosa and cosmos. Among the medium and taller sorts are Alyssum, portulaca and nasturtiums of the dwarf types.

In one year, the wood-using industries of Canada make more than one-and-a-quarter million gross of clothes pegs, states the Industrial Department of the Canadian National Railways. They also produce close on two-and-a-half million wooden heels, over one hundred thousand children's sleighs and two-and-a-quarter million

FOOD SOURS

ABOUT two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomachs. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—just a tasteless dose in water. It is pleasant, efficient and harmless. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for correcting excess acids. 50c a bottle—any drug store.

To select a suitable name for each baby that comes into the world is, indeed, an absorbing problem. Nearly 2,000,000 new babies were born last year. ### A PERSONAL MATTER

The progress which has been achieved during recent years in the conquest of disease has been made possible through the accumulation of scientific knowledge concerning the cause or manner of spread of certain diseases.

Diseases such as typhoid fever and cholera are practically non-existent where water and milk supplies are safeguarded. Proper diet banishes scurvy and rickets. We have available the means whereby we can be successfully armed against smallpox and diphtheria. The application of our knowledge of infant care has reduced infant mortality.

There are many diseases concerning the cause of which we know little or nothing, and we are therefore unable to prevent or to control them. We do know, however, how to treat some of these diseases successfully and so reduce the number of deaths which they cause. In general, it may be said that such treatment must be given early in the course of the disease if it is to be of real value.

Diseases which cannot be prevented but which can be cured by early adequate treatment are entirely a personal matter. It rests with the individual to secure the treatment required early in disease. It is necessary for each one to have a sufficient understanding of these diseases because they are a personal matter, purely individual diseases.

We notice that appendicitis takes an unnecessary toll of human lives year after year. The reason for this is failure to secure early treatment. The pain in the abdomen caused by appendicitis is not considered to be of any significance, and, worst of all, it is often treated with a laxative, which leads to disaster.

Cancer is another disease which, in many cases could be cured if treated early. It is because we fail to pay attention to sores which do not heal, to persistent or growing lumps, to unusual discharges or bleeding, or to chronic indigestion, that cancer so often comes too late to the doctor's attention.

Pain is a danger signal, and pain should never be disregarded. Appendicitis causes pain, but cancer, (and this is the most important point) does not, as a rule, cause pain in its early stages, at the time when it may be cured by proper treatment.

It is obvious that the responsibility in such cases rests with the individual. Neither the public health department nor the medical profession can take the responsibility over. It is a personal matter, first and last.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 181 College St., Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

Hints for the Household

FOODS OUR CHILDREN NEED

By Betty Barclay

There are certain foods that our children need. There are also certain foods that our children like. When these foods are similar, we have much cause for rejoicing when they differ, there is real cause for alarm.

Grown-ups change their diet at the command of the family physician and in most cases start to cure prevailing ills almost immediately. With children, complications arise. The child who does not like milk quite often refuses to drink milk. The child who does not care for green vegetables, persists in leaving untouched, those green vegetables that are placed before him. As the child, in many homes, is the real ruler, the country is today filled with mothers and fathers who realize their children are not getting the foods they need, but seem practically powerless to remedy the evil.

Whether we like the idea or not, our children must have certain things in their diet. They must secure carbohydrates. They must have protein foods. They must get fats, minerals, salts and vitamins.

And they must have a certain amount of roughage if they are to be free from constipation and its kindred ills. Constipation is serious enough in an adult, but the constipated child is prone to develop into the adult who suffers with chronic constipation—if the child develops into an adult at all.

The roughage of vegetables usually suffices to keep constipation away—provided one eats liberal quantities of vegetables. Where this is not done, and the woman who serves the meals does not know what to supply to take the place of this vegetable roughage, trouble is in the offing.

Liberal quantities of fruit and whole cereals will furnish this roughage. The fortunate children of farmers with "immense orchard may nibble apples, peaches and other fruits, day after day, and secure the roughage they refuse to take from spinach and lettuce. Other children seldom secure enough fruit to answer the purpose, and their parents must look elsewhere for roughage.

This may be secured from rice flakes which contain vegetable cellulose or have this "vegetable effect"—and it may be obtained whether the cereal is eaten as a cereal at breakfast, or whether it comes in the form of a muffin, macaroon or tasteful pudding later in the day.

Fortunately, most children like their morning dish of cereal, particularly where it is served with fruit. But those who even refuse their cereal will not refuse a pudding.

Dessert to children is the same as a box of candy to a sweet girl graduate or a new set of matched irons to a golfer.

Here, then, are two suggestions for puddings that will supply roughage. Both are filled with foods that children need, and if the rice flakes used are those that have a "vegetable effect," roughage has been accounted for also:

Date Fluff

- 3 eggs
- 1 cup rice flakes, crushed
- 1 cup sugar
- ½ cup nuts, chopped
- 1 cup dates, chopped

Beat yolk of egg and add to dry ingredients which have been thoroughly mixed. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into buttered loaf pan and bake in a moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 45 minutes. Crumble and pile in sherbet glasses. Serve with whipped cream or lemon sauce—serve hot or cold. This recipe will be sufficient for six.

Delicious Custard Pudding

- 2 eggs
- ½ cupful raisins
- ½ cupful sugar
- ½ teaspoonful vanilla
- 2 cupfuls rice flakes
- 2 cupfuls milk

grating of nutmeg (if desired)
Beat eggs well and add rice flakes and raisins. Mix sugar with milk and add to the egg and rice flakes mixture. Add vanilla and nutmeg if desired. Pour into a greased baking dish place dish in pan of hot water, and bake in a moderate oven until custard is firm. Serve very cold.

TIMELY RECIPES FOR MAY

Crushed Pineapple Cream

- 1 cup milk
- 1 cup cream
- ½ cup crushed pineapple
- 1 junket tablet
- 1 tablespoon cold water
- 3 tablespoons sugar

Dissolve junket tablet in cold water. Warm milk, cream and sugar to luke-warm (110 degrees F.) NOT HOT—stirring constantly. Add dissolved junket tablet, stir a few seconds and pour at once into individual dessert dishes. Let stand undisturbed until firm—about 10 minutes. Then chill. When ready to serve top with crushed pineapple.

Orange Prune Cheese Salad

- (Serves 4)
- 4 to 5 oranges, peeled and sliced
- Lettuce
- 20 prunes, cooked
- 1 cup cottage cheese

Arrange 5 orange slices in circle on lettuce-covered salad plate. Center each with a prune stuffed with cheese. Serve with any desired dress

ONE HOURS GRACE

Ruth Wheeler sat silent and alone in the summer dusk, oblivious to the dust, reek and noise of the city. Her eyes half closed and dreamy, saw strange, bright pictures in the darkness of the yard. She could smell the fragrance of her hard-won flower bed along the fence. A wandering night breeze, somehow astray in the city's stony wastes, touched her face with a caress of gratitude for the few surviving flowers which she had kept amongst all that ugly hardness. Some mysterious magic changed the sagging steps above the cellarway into a tiny island of escape, a solitary refuge where past and present were forgotten and whence she could conjure up the golden dreams that some day would come true.

Abruptly, the illusion of security and peace was broken. Out of the blackness came a voice calling her name. That hushed call with its suppressed harshness brought her heavily back to reality. She was suddenly aware of the distant blinking glare of roof signs down the block, the yellow spotted walls of other flat houses near at hand, and closer still, the weird outline of broken fences and the clutter of discarded junk and refuse crowded all about that forlorn patch of cultivated ground.

The voice called again, near this time, and now she was sure of the undertone of fearful caution.

"Ruth!" The call came a third time and, while uncomfortable little prickling feelings coursed over her, the man spoke again. "It's me—Mickey Corbin. Can't you come away from that porch? I just want to see you for a minute."

The instinctive touch of fear she had known, the groping of her mind for the identity back of that voice, merged into awed contemplation of the fact that a desperate and hunted creature had called her name. A silent moment freighted with struggling emotions passed before she could muster her own voice to answer him.

"Just a minute," she called as she started down from her place on the back steps. She was shocked and touched with a sense of guilt as she realized that her words were thin whisperings and that she moved with the stealth of a prowling alley cat. Then, as she stepped off toward the deeper darkness of the yard, she shook off that uneasiness. Out of a dim and distant past, she was remembering him, not Mickey Corbin running from the shadow of the death house but the Mickey Corbin who had been gay, and devil-may-care, with blue eyes that could laugh and a heart filled always with the mad song of youth.

She halted as she heard the stifled suppressed sound of his breathing, and, in another moment, his hand had gently touched against her arm.

"I just sort of wondered," he murmured, "whether maybe you would not be here like you used to be. So I just dropped by to see."

"You—you—" She stopped and sought fresh words. She had intended a reproach, and swiftly every friendly memory and all her womanly instincts had halted it upon her lips.

"Go on," breathed Mickey Corbin. "The very worst you could say would not be bad enough for me. I deserve it all."

"You shouldn't be here," she answered. "That's what I was going to say, Mickey."

His chuckling laughter came thinly through the darkness. "Thanks for not starting to preach, Ruth. You're one of the few who would have sense enough to know that it was too late for preaching."

"You shouldn't have come here," she said. "You must get away from here."

"One place is as good as another," he muttered. "I did think I had a good hideout but someone squealed. I—I'm licked. There isn't a safe place for me to hide. There's always some stool pigeon, some rat of a squealer to turn me up. I've been free for two weeks, and I'm no nearer a real get-away than I was when I jumped the big house. One place is as good as another. And that being so, I decided to try and see you once more. I think that much of you Ruth, that I had to come here to tell you I was sorry."

She stood there woodenly. What was there to say? What was there to do? Here was a man who had forfeited everything to the law he had defied, a miserable creature of darkness and flight, and yet her instinct was to comfort him.

Softly, he spoke again. "I said I came to tell you I was sorry."

"I'm sorry too, Mickey—awfully sorry."

His hand upon her arm closed with a fierce tension. "I was a fool, Ruth. I ought to have listened to you long ago. I should have had sense enough to know that a fellow couldn't beat the game forever. I was just fool enough not to know how much I cared for you, Ruth. I should have come along years ago and stolen you away and maybe you would have let me."

"You're the kind a girl could run away with Mickey. But, luckily for us both, that didn't ever happen. Your kind and the kind of men girls marry are as far apart as black and white. You know I'm going to marry Jack Cameron, don't you?"

"Yes, I know. Some one told me that the day I was starting for the big house. Funny—me and you and Jack Cameron. Me, a crook, and sent up to be put in the chair. And Jack one of the smartest detectives on the force. And you still the same girl we used to sneak away from the bunch to play with. And here I am just one step ahead of—of—the chair—and you and Jack are going to be married. Funny, eh?"

"Funny!" she echoed the word, and, as she did so, she marveled at the tragedy that could stalk through her lips.

"You know," he said, "there was a time there when I had a hunch maybe you'd marry Pete Nicklin."

"You weren't the only one, I guess Mickey. Pete's over Jack now. Pete's a lieutenant and Jack's a sergeant, and Pete isn't too easy with him. But since I made up my mind, it wouldn't make any difference to me if Pete Nicklin was chief and Jack Cameron was the rawest rookie."

Mickey grinned expressively. "That would be Pete. He would use a whip if he could. Pete had a queer streak in him when we were all kids together. He was a hum loser—Pete was."

When TEETHING makes HIM FUSSY

One of the most important things you can do to make a teething baby comfortable is to see that little bowels do their work of carrying off waste matter promptly and regularly. For this nothing is better than Castoria, a pure vegetable preparation specially made for babies and children. Castoria acts so gently you can give it to young infants to relieve colic. Yet it is always effective, for older children, too. Remember, Castoria contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics—is absolutely harmless. When your baby is fretful with teething or a food upset, give a cleansing dose of Castoria. Be sure you get genuine Castoria with the name:

95 prizes, each . . . $10.00 cash

104 prizes totalling $3,000.00

A cool THOUSAND DOLLARS for merely estimating the number of cords in the average Goodyear Tire! Think of what you could do with that $1,000.00. New car? . . . Cottage at the lake? . . . Trip abroad? . . . Education for the youngsters? . . . Oh, there are plenty of wonderful things one can do with real money and lots of it.

You don't have to spend a cent of money to enter. Read the simple contest conditions, get an entry blank from us and send in your estimate to-day.

Anyone from a household where a car is owned may enter. All tire dealers, all employees of rubber companies and the families of both are, however, debarred.

See the six Goodyear Tires of various sizes, types and ply-thicknesses on display here. Estimate the number of cords, find a total and divide by six to strike the average. Submit the number you estimate on a standard entry blank.

A section of Goodyear Supertwist cord fabric is on display to help you make your estimate.

Closing date: June 5th, 1932. Address: "The Goodyear Supertwist Cord Contest," New Toronto, Toronto 14, Ontario.

— TIME INSURANCE — IS IMPORTANT, TOO!

You are probably proud of your watch. It serves you faithfully day in and day out. But are you carrying "time insurance"? In other words, do you take it to an expert watch-maker regularly for cleaning, oiling and testing? Before it stops altogether, bring it in to us: the low cost of "time insurance" makes it available to all. And "correct time" is of the greatest importance these days.

At the same time, bring us your old-fashioned jewelry for estimate on making it up-to-date and beautiful. Surprising how little it costs!

ALL THE NEWS FROM THE TOWN AND DISTRICT

WHY IS NOTHING BEING DONE ABOUT THE ANNUAL CELEBRATION ON JULY FIRST? AT THE MEETING CALLED LAST WEEK ONLY THREE ATTENDED AT THE COUNCIL CHAMBER—THE MAYOR, TOWN CLERK, AND PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF TRADE! WHY? AND ECHO ANSWERS "WHY?"

BORN—To Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Pugh, of Hope Valley, at the Wainwright municipal hospital, on May 17th, a girl.

Little Shirley Strayer, of Ribstone, was an operation patient at the hospital at the week end, and she is now getting along nicely.

One of the greatest little dramatists (aged 7 years) ever seen in town, is to perform again at the I.O.O.F. hall on Friday, May 27th, when she will repeat "Mrs. Jarley's Waxworks" at the entertainment which is being arranged by the local Rebekah lodge on that date.

* Rev. Smith—"Was he angry when you gave him the letter?"

Mrs. Ponting—Lor, sir, I've forgot all about it! You see, sir, Hi put it in my pocket and it slipped right out of my "ead!" This is explained on Wednesday evening in "Facing the Music."

Mrs. Murray Pawling is in town from the city on a visit to relatives here.

Mr. Jas. Bracegirdle was down from his home at Poe over the week end on a visit to his family who are staying with Mrs. J. Whittle.

Messrs. Crooks and Carscallen from Calgary are visiting the Royal bank this week on their periodical inspection tour.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brunker, accompanied by Mr. Henry Ward drove up to the city on Monday to see the big basketball game there.

We are indeed glad to note that Mrs. J. Stuart is now out of hospital after an attack of the flu.

Mr. E. R. Goodale who farms the west half of 24-44-7 wishes us to state that he wishes to get in touch with anyone who is actually in need of potatoes for food. Mr. Goodale has a large quantity of these and will gladly bring them in for the use of the needy. They are NOT for seed, but for eating purposes only. And they are FREE.

* Local gardeners should note that small quantities of the new fertilizing compound, ammonium phosphate is available at Torsy's. Order this now from Gene before planting your garden.

We are informed that Mr. Alva Reid, who has been so very sick at the hospital for some time is now on the mend.

Little Hazel Stuart who was taken to hospital last week with the flu and ear trouble is now greatly improved and will soon be home again.

Tuesday next, Victoria Day, will see the big annual tournament arranged by the Golf club. A large list of entries for this event have been received and "chasers of the elusive pill" are expected from a wide area to enjoy this feature.

Owing to the overcrowding of the hospital, no less than 23 patients being on the list at once, Miss Davis was added to the staff for a few days to relieve the added strain on the regular staff. She left on Sunday.

Mrs. Fred Moffatt and her children of Prince George, B.C., are here for a short visit with Mrs. Moffatt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. D. Laird.

Mrs. Cumming and her daughter Miss Beth motored to the city at the week end for a few days.

* Smith—"How dare you eat when I'm in such trouble?" See "Facing the Music" on Wednesday evening.

The farmers are sure busy rushing in their wheat these days. The cut-out for the five-cent bonus is June 14th. No news of a bonus for the 1932 crop has yet been received.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Hamilton, arrived last week end from Neepawa, Man., and are spending a short holiday with their cousins here in town.

In the guessing contest, at the McLeod furniture store, the conglomeration guess went to Mrs. W. Brunker for her guess of 3390. The correct number was 3369 (which nobody happened to guess!).

Miss D. Wilkins spent a few days in the city on a visit to friends there last week.

And still the sneak thieves are busy! This time it was the Armstrong store which suffered when the back door was forced on Sunday night, and shoes and work clothing was stolen. As this is the third or fourth successful break-in lately, seems that eventually one of these gentry will run into trouble!

*** Pianoforte playing is something more than an extra these days; it is almost a necessity for a finished education. See C. H. Lilly, town.

Mrs. Milo Melvin who was a patient at the hospital is now better and has returned to her home.

A carload of the new "floating power" Plymouths arrived this week for the Dupre garage, and a demonstration of their splendid qualities is free to all. See Arthur Dupre, he'll be tickled to death to tell you all about it!

The weather of the past week has been truly ideal for crops. Mingled rain and sunshine is bringing the wheat forward rapidly. This grain is practically all sown, and in many places is showing a nice stand above ground.

* Smith—"You've got Mabel on the brain!"
Dick—"Yes, and you've got Mabel on the premises!" All so simple to understand when you see "Facing the Music" at the theatre on Wednesday evening.

The town maintainer has been doing a pretty fair job on some of our streets this week, although Queen street is still in awful shape. Possibly, too, now that Main street is rideable, the kids with their bicycles will be kept off the cement sidewalks before someone receives injury from this cause!

Mrs. W. J. O'Callaghan is away on a visit to her mother in Minnesota for a short while, accompanied by sister from Saskatoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Cuthbertson were in the city on Monday on business.

Mrs. G. Carlson returned on Sunday evening from Edmonton where she has been visiting friends.

Steve Bowerman has now opened an office on First avenue just opposite his oil warehouse.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Kyle journeyed to the city last week end, as did also Mr. and Mrs. J. Welch.

Coming Events

*** TONIGHT (Wednesday). The hit of the season, Wainwright Dramatic Club are presenting "Facing the Music" at the Elite Theatre. Don't Miss This; it's hilarious fun from start to finish.

*** A Fifteen-Cent Sale and Afternoon Tea under the auspices of Group "B" of the United Church Women's Association, will be held on Saturday May 21st, at McLeod's Store, on Main street. All are welcome.

*** Get your Ticket NOW for the concert being arranged by the local Rebekah Lodge, I.O.O.F., for Friday, May 27th in the I.O.O.F. hall at 8.15 p.m. The feature offering of the recent festival—Mrs. Cumming's wad artists in "Mrs. Jarley's Waxworks" will be included among the numbers offered. Admission 25c.

*** Reserve the evening of Monday, June 6th for a recital by Miss Theresa M. Siegel, dramatic reader of Calgary.

*** Give your children a chance; a musical education is society's entire Classes in pianoforte study can be started at any time. Prices are moderate.—G. H. Lilly, Queen Street.

Dr. and Mrs. J. Middlemass entertained on Tuesday evening at bridge in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Cuthbertson who are leaving town shortly.

Fire adjuter Jack Millar was in town on Thursday to settle up the claims arising from the fire at the Rustand home last week.

An overturned coal-oil lamp caused a fire out at Mayor Forster's farm, but the blaze was extinguished before any great damage was done.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Torsy are spending a few days in the city this week, where Gene will assist justice in his jury duties.

LIGHTNING PREDICTED

Canadian weather experts predict for 1932 an unusually high number of lightning storms under such dry conditions as invite forest fires. This means that forest fire rangers, greatly reduced in numbers during 1932, will have to depend more than ever upon the public for active aid in reporting and subduing outbreaks. With the handful of rangers that will be on duty in many areas, the Canadian Forestry Association is doing its utmost to persuade settlers, tourists, campers and other classes to show special vigilance and to take every precaution against causing fire trouble in woods.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

An authority recently stated that the per capita consumption of apples in this country in 1889 was 107½ pounds, whereas in 1931 it was 68 pounds—a decrease of approximately 35 per cent.

It is interesting to note that the per capita consumption of oranges in 1889 was 7 pounds and that in 1931 it has increased to 20 pounds—almost 200 per cent. In the same time lemons had jumped from three to five pounds—an increase of over 60 per cent.

Apples are just as healthful and just as good as they ever were, but apples have been favored by very little advertising. The grower of oranges, and lemons have not hesitated to tell the reading and eating public how good these fruits were and how healthful they were. As a consequence, millions of families are now spending money for oranges, part of which was formerly spent for other fruits. The morning glass of orange juice has become a national habit. The fruit cup and the orange salad is almost as popular.

And still some people, even today, will insist that advertising is a waste of money.

WHY ORANGES ARE HEALTHFUL

There are many reasons why oranges should be eaten constantly. They help to balance your diet and there is experimental evidence that they tend to arrest tooth decay, gum troubles and pyorrhea—and that they help build up resistance to respiratory infections.

They help to prevent acidosis; aid digestion by stimulating appetite; contain essential minerals; are a good source of vitamins A and B, and an excellent source of vitamin C.

Looking over this list of assets, it is easy to see that the orange is well toward the top on our list of healthful foods.

NATURE'S OWN HUMIDIFIER

A live tree is about one-half water by weight. An acre of maple trees evaporates about 2700 gallons of water a day. Pine and spruces evaporate about a tenth as much. Such a constant discharge of water influences rainfall over the forest and area adjacent thereto. The soil beneath a forest lets loose its moisture only a third as fast as soil in the open country. Thus it comes that deforested land is a bad feeder of streams, giving off its water content rapidly and dangerously, whereas the streams fed by adjacent forests maintain their level and purity the whole summer through.

EDMONTON — Appointment of a provincial fish and game commission to act as an advisory body to the government was urged when a delegation from the Alberta Fish and Game Association interviewed Premier Brownlee at the Parliament Buildings.

During the meeting, the deputation also brought up a number of other matters in relation to the Consolidated Game Act passed at the last session of the legislature.
